Luxury Waterfront Homes in King County

Exploratory data analysis | Jennifer Montgomery

Prestige, location and renovation — with resale risk in mind

François ‘Leo’ Rauch | Neue Fische Data Science Bootcamp

Jennifer Montgomery

A luxury buyer with a short investment horizon

- High budget; wants an impressive home
- Waterfront, high grade, preferably renovated
- Buy within one month
- Resell within one year — the critical risk

Data & approach

Historical King County residential sales

- ~21,600 historical sales
- Luxury defined as grade ≥ 10
- Compare median prices, transaction counts and renovation status
- Explore ZIP-code concentrations and living-area groups

Important: this is historical EDA, not a current listings or resale forecast.

1 | Waterfront comes at a premium

Median historical prices • grade ≥ 10

$2.51M vs $1.01M

57 waterfront luxury transactions. A strong historical price premium, not a current asking-price estimate.

2 | Where are the matching sales?

Premium waterfront transactions by ZIP code

98040: 8 sales

98008: 7 sales

These ZIP codes lead in historical matching sales. Counts alone do not establish liquidity or time to resale.

3 | Renovation: premium, not profit

Median sale prices by living-area group • grade ≥ 10

$1.66M vs $1.01M

59 renovated luxury sales vs 1,576 unrenovated. No causal or resale-profit claim.

Recommendations & risks

What Jennifer should do next

- Budget for the waterfront luxury premium; expect limited choice
- Start the search in ZIP codes 98040 and 98008
- Favor already-renovated homes, but avoid overpaying

Before buying: verify live listings, comparable sales, transaction costs and local resale conditions.

Conclusion: prestige is observable; profitable resale in 12 months is not guaranteed.